

Celebrating 10 YEARS of the SOCIOLOGY IN ACTION LECTURE SERIES

Elizabeth D. Rockwell Pavilion Thursday, March 2nd 4:00 p.m.

Guest Speaker:

Dr. Greg Scott

Professor of Sociology at DePaul University and President of the International Visual Sociology Association

Social Imaging: Visual Methods and Ethical Conduct in Research on Vulnerable Populations

In this talk, Dr. Greg Scott considers the problems and prospects of using visual research and arts-based methods to examine and portray vulnerable persons and communities, including former prisoners, people who use drugs, sex workers, and the chronically unhoused. He will reflect critically on his use of ethnographic filmmaking, documentary photography, virtual reality experience-making, participatory architectural design, and large-scale sculpture to understand and depict the lives and concerns of disenfranchised populations. Throughout the talk, Dr. Scott will address the ethical conflicts and quagmires of using visual methods to document the lives of people operating on the margins.

For more Information

<https://bit.ly/3Blzn13>

For Questions, contact:
Sheila Katz, Ph.D.
smkatz@uh.edu

Elizabeth D. Rockwell
Center on Ethics and Leadership
Hobby School of Public Affairs

MMI Media and the Moving Image

Sociology
College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences