NSF REU Science Ethics Workshop
Department of Computer Science
University of Houston

Dr. Ioannis Pavlidis, Computer Science
Dr. David Philips, Philosophy and
Dr. Ioanna Semendeferi, NSM

Dr. Ioannis Pavlidis, Eckhard-Pfeiffer Professor of Computer Science, will give a short talk entitled: "Academic Life - Rewards and Perils". This will act as a stimulus for an extended Q&A session. The talk will refer to the structure of the academic profession, the nature of research funding, and the role of scientific publications. It will touch upon successful paradigms as well as infamous cases of unprofessional behavior. Then Dr. Pavlidis together with Dr. David Philips and Dr. Ioanna Semendeferi who are co-investigators in the NSF Science Ethics grant will take questions from the audience.

Time: 10:30-12:00
Date: Friday, June 22, 2012
Room: 232-PGH